GRAMMAR SCHOOL IMPROVEMENTS ARE COMPLETED

Program of Exercises Yesterday in Honor of the Event--Interesting History of the School District.

Yesterday afternoon a program of exercises was rendered in Miss Hansen's room in the grammar school building in honor of the completion of the extensive improvements made to the building.

Before the exercises took place several citizens inspected the new upper floors of the building which consist of four large class rooms, one recitation room and a teachers' rest room. All the rooms have equipment to adjust the temperature at any degree desired. The new fire escapes are easily reached from each room through doors which open outward. Similar equipment has been installed in the four older rooms on the first floor.

At the close of the exercises inspection was given to the basement of the building. The entire floor of the basement has been laid with asphaltum. A modern hot and cold air apparatus is located here and the lavatories are first class and up-to-date.

The program of exercises consisted of the following:

Opening remarks by Principal Geo. E. Britton; songs by the pupils of the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades "Where the River Shannon Flows," "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean," and "Bonnie Annie Laurie."

Judge E. E. Cunningham was then introduced who gave a very interesting address on the history of the local school district.

The district was first known as the San Bruno school district. In 1892 the first school house was a one-room affair located at what is now known as Baden station. The members of the first board of school trustees were Constantino Broner (father of the present school trustee P. D. Broner), Howard Tilton (who was later elected as county supervisor) and August Jenevein (now in business in San Bruno). Many people came to this city in 1892 and the school house soon became too small and in the summer of that year bonds to the amount of $10,000 were voted to build a new school house. In November 1892, lots 6, 7, 8, and 9 in block 96 on Baden avenue between Magnolia and Orange, were purchased for a school site for which $1800 were paid. The new school building was completed early in 1893.

During that period and up to 1898 three teachers were employed. They were Misses Florence Glennan, Cecilia Hynd and Bertha Kuck.

After the completion of the new building, Wm. Neff purchased the old one and moved it to the northern part of town and rented it. Later in the year it was destroyed by fire, the first to occur in the then young city.

In 1896 Julius Eikerenkotter was appointed member of the school board and re-elected in 1898. In 1897 R. K. Patchell was elected a member. In 1902 Ambrose McSweeney, now tax collector, was elected. In 1903 Chas. Duer. In 1904 Thos. Mason, now living in San Jose. In 1905, Robt.

Britton. In 1906, Chas. Duer re-elected. In 1907 Duray Smith elected and Chas. Robinson, now clerk of the board, appointed and re-elected in 1911. In 1907 J. H. Kelley appointed and re-elected in 1909. In 1910, W. C. Schneider, present member. In 1912 P. D. Broner.

The principals of the school were Miss Florence Glennan, H. R. Panton, A. M. Sylvia, W. R. McDonald, Geo. W. McIntire, who died in this city early in 1907, and was succeeded then by the present principal, Geo. E. Britton.

In 1905 bonds were voted to the amount of $20,000, to purchase additional lots in the same block on Grand avenue and build a new grammar school (the present building).

In 1906 lots 4, 5, 36 and 37 were purchased for $2200, and lot 38 in the same block from W. A. Rice for $700.

Early in 1907 the building was partially completed.

"You have a good school building now, and we hope to have a new high school in the near future. There should be more grounds to square up the school property, and the local land company should donate it to the school district for public park purposes."

Wm. Castro sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold" in a fine manner. E. I. Woodman and Trustee Chas. Robinson then made addresses of interest to the teachers and pupils.

The exercises closed with a short talk by Principal Britton, who thanked the speakers and said he regretted that more parents were not present.

METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday June 9th, 10:30 a. m. Sabbath school, Mrs. E. G. Evans, superintendent. More teachers are needed for this growing school, especially for boys' classes. 7:30 p. m. special service, Holy Communion. The pastor, M. J. Williams, will conduct the exercises. Rev. Chas. W. Null, pastor at Sunnyvale, will be present to preach, to administer Baptism and the Lord's Supper. Any parents desiring their children baptised will be given an opportunity at this time. The service will close with the observation of the Holy Communion. Members of every denomination, of whatever creed, are earnestly invited to participate in the Lord's Supper.

I wish to announce to the public that I have purchased the cigar stand formerly conducted by F. W. Brown, and will be responsible only for bills contracted by myself. MANUEL MONIZE. South San Francisco, May 24, 1912.

For Sale—Near Stanford University grounds, 150 lots, at $150 each; 10 per cent down, balance can be paid within five years. For particulars, call on or write L. M. Pfluger, San Bruno. *

LOCAL HAPPENINGS TOLD IN BRIEF

Born—In this city June 2d, to the wife of Louis Negri, a boy.

Born—In this city, June 5th, to the wife of Robert Hagedorn, a boy.

City Attorney J. W. Coleberd left Thursday for a short stay in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Coffinberry left to-day for Portland, Oregon, for a short stay.

Chas. Young, wife and child left Thursday for a trip to Europe where they will stay four or five months.

All local baseball players are urged to be present at the new ball grounds to-morrow morning at 10:30 when a club will be organized.

G. Bertuccelli is having a new home for himself and family built on the west half of lot 4 in block 124, on the north side of Baden avenue, between Linden and Maple.

At a meeting of Volunteer Hose Co. No. 1, held Wednesday evening, it was decided to paint the company's house on Linden avenue. Members have volunteered to do the work to-morrow morning.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Martin returned home Tuesday from a visit to Los Angeles and San Diego. Previously, Mr. Martin had been in the east on a business trip and was joined by his wife when he arrived in Southern California.

The Ladies Aid of the St. Paul's Methodist Church is planning to serve the public with refreshments during the Fourth of July Carnival. Ice cream and cake, or coffee and sandwiches, will suit all kinds of tastes, and all kinds of weather. In any case there will be "something doing."

Mr. and Mrs. W. Sanborn of Mexico City have been visiting this city during the past week, guests of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. McGovern and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Kneese. Mrs. Sanborn is a cousin of Mesdames McGovern and Kneese. Mr. Sanborn is proprietor of a large drug establishment in his home city. He and his wife are making a two or three months' sojourn in California and are enjoying it.

The Metropolitan Club in this city will give an all-night ball in Metropolitan Hall next Saturday night, June 15th. Everybody is invited. Admission 50 cents, ladies free. The dance will commence after the counting of votes in the local queen contest is completed. No charge for admission will be made while the counting of votes is proceeding. The net proceeds of the ball will be given to the Ladies Guild in this city.

Members of Volunteer Hose Co. No. 1 have been practicing running every evening this week on Linden avenue, between Grand and Baden. The course is 750 feet, and the boys are making fast time. Chief Kneese says outside companies will have to go some in the Fourth of July hose cart contest to beat the local team. Next Saturday evening a race will be held between the Wharf Rats hose company of the Fuller paint works and the local hose company. Great interest is being manifested in this contest and no doubt a large crowd will be present to witness it.

Attorneys Ross & Ross, Sullivan & Sullivan & Roehe have filed a notice in the county clerk's office at Redwood City to the effect that they will apply in the superior court to have the case of J. C. Eikerenkotter against the United Railroads set for trial. The motion will be based on the fact that the case is ready for trial, all the preliminaries having been determined and settled. Mr. Eikerenkotter was injured by one of the company's cars nearly two years ago near this city and suffered a great deal. He commenced an action against the railroad some time ago for damages in the sum of $50,000. The suit will be watched with interest.

For Sale—An almost new gas range; reasonable. Apply J. J. McDonald, 349 Commercial avenue. *

PROCEEDINGS OF THE CITY BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Ordinances Defining Boundary Lines and Elevations of Baden Avenue and for Boxing Exhibitions Introduced.

The city board of trustees met in regular session last Monday night.

Trustee Kelley, chairman of the purchasing committee, reported that a new hose for the sprinkling wagon had been obtained.

Superintendent of Streets Kneese reported he had had a man at work digging trenches in Baden avenue so that he could determine the grade of sewers. He had also put a man at work cutting weeds away from sidewalks.

City Clerk Smith presented a report of the finances of the city as follows:

Treasurer Kauffman and Marshal

Kneese's reports were the same.

Poundmaster Welch reported he impounded 7 horses, 2 cows and 1 goat during May.

The reports were accepted and ordered filed.

Upon motion of Trustee Holston, seconded by Trustee McGovern, several claims against the city were ordered paid.

Trustee McGovern introduced an ordinance providing for licensing boxing or sparring exhibitions and regulating same, licenses to cost $600 a year in advance for Class A and $20 for Class B.

The ordinance will be acted upon at the next meeting.

Trustee Kelley introduced an ordinance defining boundary lines and elevations for Baden avenue, between Spruce and Chestnut avenues.

Upon motion of Trustee Holston, seconded by Trustee Kelley, the salary for City Attorney Coleberd was placed at $50 a month.

The friends of the dead policeman wanted to give the widow an appropriate memorial and subscribed enough money to have a large oil portrait painted by a local artist. The dead policeman's name was O'Brien. When the portrait was finished it was taken to the house of the widow and placed on exhibition. All who subscribed to the fund were invited to come and see it, and they assembled one night. The portrait was unveiled by the artist. Half of those present said it was a good likeness and half said it was very poor. The dispute was warm. Finally the artist, seeing his fee slipping away from him, as there seemed no basis of settlement as to the merits of the picture, suggested

FOUNDERS OF THE CITY OF SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

THE SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO LAND AND IMPROVEMENT COMPANY designed in its original plan to make of South San Francisco a great manufacturing center. With that object in view, it originally purchased 3500 acres of land in San Mateo County, on the bay front, five miles south of the City of San Francisco. Since the original purchase, the company has added greatly to its holdings by the purchase of large tracts of adjoining lands, giving to it a perfect environment for the complete development of a great manufacturing city. The faith which this Company had in its enterprise has been manifest to everyone by the large expenditure it has made in the development of this property. Every foundation which goes to make a perfect condition for manufacture has been already solidly installed, and is a rapidly growing city; it is a railroad terminal; it is on the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and accessible to all railroads; has deep water communication; owns and operates for its industries a railroad connecting with the Southern Pacific and the water front; has electric street car service from factory to Town, and direct to San Francisco; has an Electric Light and Power Company; owns an independent Water Works, and has an abundance of fresh water for factory and house; has wharves and docks; a perfect sewerage system; a Bank and a Town Hall; and a population of over 3000 people in an extensive and fine residence district, where everyone may secure lands at reasonable prices and on favorable terms, as homes for themselves and their families.

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO

FACTORY SITES

can be obtained from the South San Francisco Land and Improvement Company on most reasonable terms.

The completion of the Bay Shore Tunnels has placed South San Francisco on the main lines of the Southern Pacific Railroad, and forty passenger trains per day connect it with the outside world.

Owing to the completion of the Dumbarton Bridge and Cutoff, South San Francisco will soon have all railroads which center in San Francisco passing through its midst.

Many industries are already established here, chief of which are the Western Meat Company, the Wool Pullery, the Soap Works, the Steiger Pottery Works, the W. P. Fuller White Lead Works, the South San Francisco Lumber and Supply Company, the Pacific Coast Steel Company, the Pacific Car and Equipment Company, the Standard Corrugated Pipe Works, and other enterprises, all of which are in operation to-day. The Meese Gottfried Machinery Company and the Enterprise Foundry of San Francisco have each recently made purchases of land, and South San Francisco is plainly destined to fulfill all that its promoters had hoped.

PROCEEDINGS OF SUPERVISORS

The county board of supervisors met in regular session at Redwood City last Monday.

District Attorney Swart presented documentary proof that an election had been held in the Millbrae school district on May 21st, at which more than two-thirds of the citizens of the district voted in favor of a bond issue of $15,000 for the purpose of purchasing ground and building a school house. The bonds are to run fifteen years and bear interest at the rate of 5 per cent per annum.

Upon motion of Supervisor Brown, seconded by Supervisor Blackburn, a resolution was adopted confirming the issue of bonds of the district and directing Clerk Nash to publish a notice offering the bonds for sale, bids to be received at the meeting to be held on Monday, June 17th.

Upon motion of Supervisor Francis, seconded by Supervisor Blackburn, a certified check for $430 was declared forfeited by the contracting firm of Barrett & Foy, at the suggestion of Mr. Barrett who declared a mistake in figuring had been made and that the bid his firm had made to build a bridge over Frenchman's creek was $1000 too low and rather than go ahead with the work the firm would prefer to forfeit the certified check which accompanied the bid.

Tax Collector McSweeney was authorized to employ additional help in his office for one month at a cost of $50.

Upon motion of Supervisor Blackburn it was ordered that each member of the board be authorized to employ a special officer to enforce the dog muzzling ordinance, at a monthly salary of $25, they to hold office two months. Said officers are to warn the owners of dogs that do not comply with the law and after twenty-four hours if such dogs are still unmuzzled they are to be killed and their bodies disposed of. For each dog so disposed of the officers are to receive $1.00.

2000 MILES OF HIGHWAY BY 1915

A dispatch from Sacramento states that State Highway Engineer Austin B. Fletcher has announced that by 1915 there will be completed approximately 2000 miles of state highways in California, including the main state highway, connecting with the boundaries of Oregon and Arizona and Mexico and the laterals, connecting the counties, and the county seats east and west of the main highways.

Fletcher also announces that by the first of January, 1912, there will be between 200 and 300 miles of grading completed in several sections of the state for the highway system.

FRATERNAL ORDERS

(BY HARRY EDWARDS.)

IMP. O. R. M.

Tonwanda Tribe of the Improved Order of Redmen of San Mateo carries the banner so far for 1912, having elected fifty-two candidates for the Tribe, forty-two of which were present and initiated Saturday evening last. This is a splendid showing. The adoption degree exemplified by Sakima drill team of San Francisco, was a never-to-be-forgotten rendition of that famous degree, which always stirs the heart of every true Redman, while the rich red blood of which Indians are made seemed to obtain new life and power. Past Great Sachem Bell, Great Chief of Records Porter L. Bliss and Robert L. Lincoln, great trustee, were present.

The team work by L. Peters, sachem; Dan Ross, senior sagamore; S. Merchant, junior sagamore; F. S. Robins, prophet; A. J. Lane, organist; was exceptionally good. The majority of the local Redmen were present to learn, mark and inwardly digest the various points brought out, to aid in the betterment of our local drill team. They did not regret the visit. They are invited to again trail to the hunting grounds of San Mateo Thursday evening, June 13th. Yosemite drill team of San Francisco will exemplify the chiefs' degree that night.

The report that cheered the writer to the limit was that San Mateo Tribe would be present with us July 4th, with every new member in the Redmen's division of the parade. The old members said they would have to go along to take care of the youngsters.

F. O. E.

South City Aerie, No. 1473, held an interesting session Tuesday evening last. Bro. W. J. Martin, fresh from his eastern trip, gave an interesting address, stating that during his trip he had met more Eagles than those of any other fraternity, and advised the members to hold fast to that which was good in fraternalism. The order of Eagles was showing wonderful development in the eastern states and he believed that during the world's fair in 1915 Eagles' day would eclipse that of any other fraternal order. You all know W. J., the booster. He is O. K. and is one of the committee appointed by the Aerie for the 4th of July.

COUNTY NOTES

Work was commenced Tuesday on the new $100,000 hotel which will be built on the corner of Main street and Broadway, Redwood City. A force of men began tearing down the buildings on the corner, which have been standing since 1852. They were built then by Harry M. Morse and are among the oldest buildings in the city. The new hotel will be a three-story structure. The upper floors will be devoted to hotel purposes and the ground floor to stores. Among the local capitalists behind the project are George C. Ross, E. F. Fitzpatrick, Dr. J. L. Ross and W. H. Hanson.

Henry T. Scott, chairman of the finance committee of the Hillsborough trustees, paid San Mateo county $500 on Tuesday, the semi-annual installment due the county by the terms of the "gentleman's agreement" made by the millionaires at the time of the incorporation of Hillsborough. It had been feared that Hillsborough would not make good this payment, to which it is not legally bound, but it proved that Hillsborough was merely waiting for Supervisor W. H. Brown to complete a stretch of road near the boundary line of the town de luxe. At the time of incorporation several of the millionaires promised to see that $7000 were paid into the county road fund annually. The residents of the millionaire city have never failed to uphold the terms of this "gentleman's agreement."

Old Sol with torrid fury almost spoiled a happy wedding last Tuesday in Redwood City and it was only the alertness of Justice of the Peace H. W. Lampkin which averted it. John J. Fletcher of San Francisco and Ruby Wheeler of Bakersfield were standing before an improvised altar while Justice Lampkin was slowly pronouncing the marriage vow. "This heat is terrible," gasped the bride. "I cannot

OF INTEREST TO VETERAN SOLDIERS

The following letter and resolutions are published by The Enterprise, as of interest to veteran soldiers in San Mateo county:

House of Representatives, Washington, May 25th, 1912.

E. E. Cunningham, Postmaster, South San Francisco, Cal.—My dear Mr. Cunningham: As one of my friends, I thought you might be interested in reading the resolution, copy of which I herewith enclose, passed by the Union Veteran League of New York City. With kindest regards, I am,

Sincerely yours,

E. A. HAYES.

Headquarters Encampment 38, U. V. L. Ninth Regiment Armory, New York City, May 15, 1912.

Whereas, the Congress has passed and President Taft has signed the McCumber-Sherwood Pension bill, which is the best bill of the kind ever passed and has brought comfort and gladness into many homes of veteran soldiers of the republic where the grim spectre of want had too long abided;

And, whereas, we, as representatives of these old heroes deem it fitting that we should express formally our sincere praise, thanks and appreciation of the courage and skill of the men who are primarily worthy of our gratitude for the enactment of this great measure, therefore be it

Resolved, That Encampment 38, Union Veteran League, the Long Service Order, hereby expresses its profound appreciation and most grateful thanks to President Taft for signing and to Senators McCumber, Burnham, Curtis, Smoot, Townsend and Kern, and Representatives Sherwood, Adair, Towner, Bradley and Hayes for their fine work in framing and carrying through this bill which has done so much to gladden the hearts and relieve the urgent necessities of the men who in youth fought the battles of the republic, and to-day are its best friends and most ardent and faithful supporters.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread in full on the minutes and that copies be sent to gentlemen above named and to the newspapers. By command of J. J. TUTTLE, Colonel, Official: D. H. Bonesteel, Adjutant.

MORE TRACKS FOR PENINSULA TRAINS

The construction of what practically amounts to a new railroad line through San Mateo county and down the Peninsula, although it will run parallel with the present tracks, is now being planned by the Southern Pacific Company.

There has as yet been no official announcement of just how soon the construction work will be instituted, but the presence of surveyors along the present right of way is regarded as an indication that the time is not very remote. The new line is necessitated because of the traffic congestion on the present tracks, the suburban trains and the coast line trains using the same rails. The company is now planning the construction of a new double track road, running parallel with the present rails, one set to be used by the local and the other by the through passenger trains.

At present the company maintains a twenty-seven train service between here and the Peninsula points, irrespective of the through service, and the usage of the same rails for all at present is indicative, say officials, of a necessity in the near future of segregating the trains because of the Peninsula's growth and development and consequent necessary increase in the number of locals. That traffic within the next four or five years will show an undoubted increase of no minor extent is an accepted belief, and the construction of additional tracks will be in line with the company's policy of stand it a second longer." The magistrate reached over to his desk and turned the electric fan on the bride. With a stiff breeze playing in her face the ceremony continued without further interruption. "I am so glad we are living in an electric age," the bride said, and the couple departed.

Incidentally the State Railroad Commission has set the date of hearing the complaints of Peninsula residents against present rates for June 18th, when the San Jose, San Mateo and Palo Alto complaints will be heard as one. Repeated rumors that the railroad has offered to compromise the suit since proceedings were instituted with the Railroad Commission have been denied by Southern Pacific officials. Before the filing of the complaints there were several efforts made to obtain a compromise, the main proposed concession by the railroad concerning the rate on family tickets.—Chronicle.

The Man With the Umbrella.

One of the famous sculptors of Paris, a man renowned for his resourcefulness and his humor, was caught in a downpour of rain and took refuge in a doorway. There was no taxi to be obtained, the fiacres that passed were full, and there was no prospect of the rain abating. At the moment a gentleman passed, well dressed and carrying a large umbrella. The sculptor saw his opportunity, shook hands with the stranger and installed himself under the umbrella. It was a coincidence that they should have met. He had been looking out for his acquaintance for the past fortnight. He talked incessantly about a hypothetical family and other matters until they reached the studio. Then the sculptor discovered his mistake and apologized. The apology was accepted coldly, so the man with the umbrella was invited to inspect the studio. He declined and bade "au revoir." The sculptor entertained his family with the ruse. One member remarked that his tie was disordered. He put up his hand. His tie was missing! So were his watch and his purse.

The Book of Years.

In sleep I turned the volume of my years. The leaves were many, rough and soiled and marred, And here and there a line was blurred and scarred Where to erase it I had tried with tears.

No page was perfect, but through all there ran Fair lines and many spaces white and clear.

Ah, small they were, the blotted lines too near, But each showed where a higher thought began!

Unknowingly I traced these pages interlined. I thought them but loose leaves soon torn and lost.

I knew not then the tears which they should cost When in the western sky my sun declined.

Could I but write them now how fair they all should look When the great angel comes to close and seal my book!

—Ninette M. Lowater.

Wit That Won.

When the late Stilson Hutchins owned two newspapers in St. Louis he kept standing along the top of the editorial page of each, "While the Dispatch and Times are under the same proprietorship, they are under distinct and separate management." One day he learned that Stanley Huntley, author of the "Spoonody Papers," his correspondent at Jefferson City, had been celebrating unwisely. He telegraphed, dismissing him, and signed the message "S. H."

Huntley replied: "I was gay last night and am sick today. My condition of today and my condition of last night, while under the same proprietorship, are under distinct and separate management."

Hutchins wired back, retaining Huntley and raising his salary.

SAYS GOMPERS SOURCE OF FUND

Franklin Says Bribe Money Came From Labor Head

Declaring that it would trace the alleged bribe money used by Bert Franklin from the McNamara defense fund of the American Federation of Labor to the hands of Clarence S. Darrow, the prosecution in the trial of Darrow in Los Angeles for alleged jury bribery placed on the stand H. H. Flather, cashier of a national bank of Washington, D. C. Flather was called to the stand after the cross-examination of Bert H. Franklin, which had assumed sensational proportions, had been temporarily discontinued at the request of the defense.

The name of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was brought into the record several times, Franklin testifying upon one occasion that Darrow had told him the money for the alleged bribery of George N. Lockwood came direct from Gompers.

District Attorney Fredericks stated that no effort would be made to show any complicity in the alleged bribery by Gompers, but that the State proposed to prove that the $4000 had been drawn from the McNamara defense fund of the American Federation of Labor and sent to Darrow. He made the same statement in reference to John Harriman—that no effort would be made to implicate him.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, said of Detective Franklin's testimony in the Darrow trial:

"That is an absolute falsehood, made of whole cloth. I do not know Franklin, and I have never had any dealings with him. I did not send money to him or to anybody. I do not handle any money. There is nothing to this, and it is absurd on the face of it. I have documentary proof which disproves his story. I do not care to give the correspondence out at this time."

WEBB RESUMES THE SAN DIEGO PROBE

Attempt to Speak on Streets Abandoned

Attorney-General U. S. Webb returned to San Diego, and, in response to a question as to the possibility of martial law in that city, stated that "any peace-loving community had nothing to fear from State intervention."

Aside from that one declaration, the Attorney-General had little to say. He stated that the question of discharging the Grand Jury and impaneling a new one to investigate the Industrial Workers of the World disturbances, which the citizens of San Diego were said to be generally opposing, was a matter for the Superior Court to decide.

It was said that another attempt would be made to test the city's "move on" ordinance. It was stated that a man would speak outside the restricted district.

FARMERS TO CUT COST OF LIVING

Chain of Co-Operative Stores to Be Established.

A movement aimed as a body blow to the high cost of living has begun to take form in Sacramento, the plan being for the formation of a co-operative retail and wholesale grocery business in California, with the Sacramento Valley as the center. A chain of fifty retail stores and a wholesale store in Sacramento is contemplated. A capital of $1,000,000 will be raised, half for the wholesale store and the other half for the fifty retail stores, thus giving each retail store and the other half for the fifty stores will be located in communities not necessitating a $10,000 capital and the surplus will be put into establishments in larger cities where a bigger stock is needed. The system will be financed almost wholly by farmers. It will be a consumers' concern in the strictest sense of the word, both in the wholesale as well as in the retail division.

General Estenoz, the real leader of the negro insurgents, has captured and burned the town of Lamaya, on the branch line of the Cuban Railroad, thirty miles from Santiago. The insurgents retired into the hills. Lamaya was a small place, composed of about seventy houses, the inhabitants of which were mostly negroes.

SCORES SHOT DOWN IN BELGIAN RIOTS

Country in Grip of Upheaval That Grows Hourly

Belgium is in a state of eruption on account of the recent elections, and rioting throughout the country has taken on a revolutionary character. Many persons have been killed or wounded in various cities and a large number of reserves have been called to the colors. Agitation in the industrial centers is increasing. Every hour brings news of fresh protests.

At Liege enormous damage has been done by the rioters. The streets were piled high with broken tables, chairs, beams, planks and stones, the arms used by the mob in attacks upon the police. The tramways were wrecked. In the Place St. Lambert the rioters overturned the street cars and used them as barricades from behind which they hurled missiles at the police, injuring several.

A score of persons at Ghent were wounded in a fight with gendarmes. Mobs attacked several convents, breaking the windows of the buildings. The rioters also smashed all the windows in the stores on several streets.

The women have aroused themselves to even greater frenzy than the men.

In all the collieries of the Southeast the Flemish workmen have been boycotted by the Walloons and hundreds have left the premises. The streetcar employees have struck at La Louviere and the municipal employees at Seraing.

In Brussels a mob made a rapid tour of the city, wrecking street cars, smashing windows and doing all manner of damage.

GENERAL NEWS EVENTS

A cargo of 40,000 Chilean oak ties was recently shipped from Corral to South Africa, to the order of a London syndicate. If they prove satisfactory the syndicate is to take 500,000 more.

A Businesslike Precaution

The Difficulty of Discovering One's Faults.

By EMILY RICKER

A long while before Marjorie Sterling and Frank Kenyon became engaged they had one of those highly philosophic conversations on love and marriage that persons of the mating age are fond of indulging in. Why they are constantly talking on the subject they don't know themselves. Doubtless they drop on to it just as the birds twitter to each other during the mating season. The man and the maid are not always making love to each other when they chat about such matters, but they are thinking of love and marriage, all the same.

Frank, with all the gravity and appearance of wisdom of a man of forty—he was twenty-two—remarked that to marry was very dangerous owing to the fact that a man could not really know the woman he would marry until after he had lived with her, whereupon Marjorie remarked that the girl was under the same disadvantage. He had not thought of that part of the problem.

"For my part," he said, "I would rather take the risk with a girl who is liked by her own sex than popular with mine. I don't mean one who is sought after by other girls, for popularity is no index of intrinsic worth. I refer to a girl who has a fair number of intimate friends who look upon her with respect."

"And I," replied Marjorie, "would not risk marrying a popular man. I have known a young man to appear in a place and take everything by storm." "Socially?"

"Yes, socially and with those not in the social swim. I have known such a man, I say, who was the rage for a while, then dropped to a very low level."

"Nevertheless when one is about to take a life partner it would be well to take a business precaution in the premises."

"INDEED!" REPLIED FRANK WITH A YAWN.
"PRETTY, ISN'T SHE?"

"What do you mean by a business precaution?"

"When a merchant thinks of selling a man a bill of goods on credit he looks him up through a commercial agency."

"see. Marriage is far more important than selling goods on credit."

"Indeed, it is."

This ended the dialogue. At the time it took place neither of the two thought of marrying the other, but they saw a great deal of each other and were very companionable. From being companionable Frank began to act in a way indicating to Marjorie that he was thinking of something more than companionship. He was a desirable part, and Marjorie did not discourage him.

Frank made up his mind that he would like to settle down to married life with Marjorie, and Marjorie thought that she would like to settle down to married life with Frank. They had known each other for several years, and neither knew anything detrimental of the other. A marriage between them seemed to both a very natural thing—that is, their inclinations being for each other.

It was then that Frank concluded to take that "business precaution" he had said should be taken in such cases. Thus far he had not by any means committed himself, and no one but himself had the slightest intimation that he was thinking of marrying any one. He and Marjorie moved in the same social set, but each had a number of friends, and it was not known that the two were especially intimate. There was nothing to prevent the one gathering opinions of the other except that guardedness which persons of experience usually acquire.

One afternoon at a lawn party, Frank was sitting with a Miss Markland when Marjorie passed in company with a young man recently arrived and introduced.

"How tastefully Miss Sterling is dressed," remarked the lady. "That costume was made at Lafont's."

"Indeed!" replied Frank, with a yawn. "Pretty, isn't she?"

"Do you think so?"

"Don't you?"

"Not pretty; she's very nice."

"You're one of her friends, I believe."

"Yes, Marjorie and I are very friendly."

"And you consider her faultless?"

"Oh, no; not faultless. Marjorie has her good points and her faults, like the rest of us. There's just one trouble about her that I know—she is a bit selfish."

"Nothing else?"

"Nothing unless she is not as particular as she might be about what she says concerning her friends."

"How? Who does she say things about?"

The dialogue was interrupted at this juncture by the hostess, who brought up a man to introduce to Miss Markland.

Kenyon pursued his inquiries for a month, by the end of which time he discovered that his opinion of Marjorie was entirely erroneous. One of her companions admitted that she was selfish and traduced her friends; another that she was not always truthful; another that she was not reliable, whatever that means; another that she was intellectually of very high caliber, and so on, each giving her some one blemish and each averring that for the rest she was perfectly lovely. But unfortunately there different blemishes, taken together, made up a very disagreeable character.

Frank, to use a forcible but inelegant expression, sneered off from Marjorie.

Meanwhile Marjorie, unknown to Frank, had been pursuing a similar course toward him. She knew his intimate friends among men and while conversing with them endeavored to draw from them his faults. After making inquiries of her friends she pursued her investigations among some to whom she was indifferent, finally taking up those whom she suspected he did not like—not that he had ever given her any intimation of that dislike; we cannot be as cordial or enthusiastic toward some as toward others, nor can we always avoid showing antagonism in our manner.

However, before Marjorie had finished her investigations she noticed that Frank had discontinued certain loverlike looks and actions and had resumed treating her merely as a friend. Why he had changed she did not know, having no suspicion that he had been making inquiries about her and of the result of those inquiries. Her investigation of him had not elicited a single fault. Every one she had talked with about him spoke well of him, some very highly. A few had seemed indifferent toward him, but had not accused him of any fault. Naturally this gave her a high opinion of him and caused her the more to regret the change in him, to say nothing of the wounding of her amour propre.

One day she was berating her brother for some delinquency and in the heat of the argument said to him:

"I wish you were as fine a fellow as Frank Kenyon."

"What makes you think him a fine fellow?"

"Why, I have talked to his men friends, those who are indifferent to him and some who dislike him. They all speak in the highest terms of him."

"Of course they do to you."

"What do you mean by to me?"

"Don't you know that it's a principle with men always to speak well of other men to women."

"No," said Marjorie, surprised.

"Well, they do. I was talking with Tom Hartwell about Frank Kenyon the other day and Tom called Kenyon a cad."

"Why, Mr. Hartwell told me that he regarded Mr. Kenyon as a splendid fellow."

"Of course he did. I'd tell any girl that about my worst enemy."

"Oh, my goodness gracious! That isn't speaking the truth."

"If Frank should ask the girls about you they would speak the truth or at least what they consider the truth. They would say some very nice things about you, but"—

"I know what you mean."

"I don't mean anything disrespectful of girls or claim any advantage for men. The one acts in a feminine way, the other in a masculine way. The business lives men lead make them wary of getting into trouble by telling the truth. It isn't because they are so awfully nice about it, though everybody knows that men's and women's standard of honor are different. If you want adverse opinions of Frank Kenyon I can get them for you by the cart load, but they wouldn't be worth anything."

This conversation opened Marjorie's eyes to the cause of Frank Kenyon's change toward her. What could she do about it? Maidly modesty forbade her asking if he had made inquiries about her, as he once intimated he would do when contemplating matrimony. She decided on an entirely different course. The next time they met she was very cool toward him.

This changed the situation. Frank asked her what he had done to offend her. She replied that he had done nothing. He pressed her for a reason for her coolness, and she told him that she had learned that he was regarded as a cad by his friends.

This brought about a turning point. Frank confessed that he had learned she had all the faults in the dictionary, admitting that he had made the inquiries necessary to elicit the information. Marjorie confessed that she, too, had sought the truth and had only got it from one man—her brother.

Then they laughed, and Frank felt for Marjorie's hand, drew her toward him and said:

"The only way we can find out each other's faults is to get married."

"But we'll love each other despite them, won't we?"

"Indeed we will!"

Answered to the Name.

A couple of drummers, having a few hours' layover in a small town, decided to dine at the village hotel. On looking over the bill of fare they noted that young "fry" were "special" for that meal, so one of the men turned to the pretty little waitress and asked: "How's the chicken?"

The young lady blushed, then answered: "Oh, I'm all right. How are you?"—Everybody's.

SAN BRUNO NEWS.

James Hatfield has returned from Suisun.

Born—in Belle Air, June 1st, to the wife of A. Cuniagani, a girl.

Mrs. I. Hall, formerly of Belle Air, visited San Bruno last Wednesday.

A Greater San Francisco petition can be seen and signed at Schoelkopf's barber shop.

For Rent—Two-room house, furnished, $5 per mont. Apply Schoelkopf's barber shop.

Harry Loose, manager of the San Bruno Lumber Co., has rented the new house near the San Mateo avenue fire house.

To-night there will be a called meeting of trustees for Belle Air and fifth addition at the school house.

Robbers visited third addition last Tuesday in broad daylight. Residents should be careful about their valuables.

A. Martin was arrested by Constable Wallace, plead guilty, was fined $20 by Justice Davis, which he paid.

A petition has been prepared, circulated and will be presented to the board of supervisors asking it to open Sylvan avenue in Belle Air.

A social dance will be given by the Socialists of San Bruno in Green's Hall Saturday evening, June 15th. Admission, 25 cents. Valuable prizes for old and young. Something interesting every minute. Music by Harmonie orchestra.

To-morrow (Sunday) morning Rev. Chas. W. Null, formerly pastor at San Bruno, but now pastor at Sunnyvale, will occupy the pulpit at San Bruno Methodist Church. Rev. Null will administer Baptism and the Lord's Supper. Parents are invited to bring their children for baptism, and all are welcome to partake of the Holy Communion.

E. R. Zion, an employe of the tax collector's office in San Francisco and well known as a sportsman and club man, was found guilty of a violation of the fish and game laws in the court of Justice of the Peace John F. Davis Monday. Zion was arrested at Point Pedro by Deputy Game Warden Hunter and accused of having caught trout out of season. Notice was given that the case will be taken to the superior court.

The memorial services at San Bruno Methodist Church last Sunday morning considering the hot day were well attended, and a good program rendered. Especially were thanks due Miss Tobias and Mrs. Beckner in arranging the program, and the San Bruno flute and drum corps, and Mr. Beulah with his cornet, for their worthy services.

We wish to announce the organization of the Fourth Addition Improvement Club with the following officers: President, W. Turnbull; Vice-President, J. Beckner; Secretary, W. W. Holliday; Treasurer, J. J. Jones. The formation of the club was strongly suggested and carried into effect by the successful efforts of the residents or the fourth addition to secure a proper outlet for their sewers which will be by connection with the Lomita Park system. The united and harmonious efforts of this club will always be directed toward the promotion of the welfare and comfort of the residents of the fourth addition, and also toward co-operation with other improvement clubs in movements which make for the improvement of conditions on the Peninsula.

The club meets on the first and third Friday of each month. The present meeting place is at the vacant cottage of S. Lunt, fourth addition.

To the Teacher.

A teacher who can arouse a feeling for one single good action, for one single good poem, accomplishes more than he who fills our memory with rows on rows of natural objects, classified with name and form, for what is the result of all these, except what we know as well without them—that the human figure pre-eminently and peculiarly is made in the image and likeness of God?—Goethe.

ZAPATA MENACES
MEXICAN CAPITAL*Orozco Sanctions Attack on City by Southern Forces

General Pascual Orozco, chief of the revolution in Northern Mexico, has formally sanctioned an attack on Mexico City by Emiliano Zapata, rebel leader in the south. An emissary from Zapata was informed by Orozco that he would permit the attack on the Mexican capital provided the southern leader would not molest foreigners and could dominate the situation. The sending of the envoy to Orozco confirms earlier claims of the rebels in the north, that they are acting in union with those in the south against President Madero.

The main forces of federals and rebels near Chihuahua are not likely to meet for at least a week because of the destruction of portions of the Mexican Central Railroad. Generals Villa and Rabago, with a large force of Federal cavalry, are moving toward Chihuahua, in the southwest, their flank movement being expected to harass General Orozco's rear.

IMPORTANT FOREIGN NEWS

Sir Julius Charles Wernher, head of the De Beers diamond syndicate and of the firm of Wernher, Beit & Co., who died in London, May 21st, is reported to have left $15,000,000 to charity.

The Duchess of Connaught, wife of the Governor-General of Canada, is suffering from appendicitis and will have to be taken to the Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal for an operation.

A special dispatch from Fez says that the investment of the city by the Moors is drawing closer, but that the defense of the capital is assured. The French column is preparing to take the offensive against the Moors.

The national executive council of the Transport Workers' Federation has decided that there should be no national strike pending the result of the meeting summoned by the British Government to deal with the proposal for a joint conciliation board.

Rumors with a vague basis continue to be circulated of an uprising in Havana province. It is alleged that hardware dealers recently sold several thousand knives, daggers and machetes to negroes. All the police and rurales in Havana are on reserve duty.

Queen Wilhelmina of The Netherlands and the Prince Consort are in Paris for a three days' official visit.

They were greeted by a great crowd at the railroad station and were cheered as they drove through lines of troops to the Foreign Office, where they will stay.

He Got the Room.

In "Coal Oil Johnny's" flush times he went to a hotel and registered, but the clerk would not give him a room because he had no baggage. Johnny was not going to be stopped by anything like that. Although it was well along in the evening, he went to the house of a trunkmaker and woke him up. He made him a dazzling offer, and the dealer came downtown and opened up. Two expressmen were dug up similarly. The oil prince Fortunatus then went back to the hotel and said, "I want that room; also I have twenty trunks, and I want them all delivered in my room immediately."

A Little Previous.

During the latter part of the war between the states Basil Gildersleeve lay one day apparently at the point of death, surrounded by several members of his family "Brother," he murmured faintly, "I have, at most, only a few days to live, and when I am laid to rest I want you to have my new pair of boots in the closet yonder. I paid $250. Confederate, for them, and you are sorely in need of a pair." Instead of the expected burst of gratitude, there was no answer. Racked with emotion at the thought of his great loss, the brother was evidently too much overcome for speech.

"Brother," persisted the future "immortal" weakly, "you mustn't have any foolish sentiment about those boots. I will never be well enough to wear them again, and it would be pure extravagance to bury me in them." Still, the brother, his face flushed, his heart too full for utterance, made no reply. "Won't you promise me to wear the boots after I am gone?" Gildersleeve pleaded. "Basil," stammered the other, crimsoning with confusion, "I've got 'em on now."
